120.. The Faculty next proceeded to consider the following Resolutions of the Committee appointed by the Faculty to consider and report on the proposals made in the letters from Drs. Mahendralal Sircar, C.I.E., and Asutosh Mukhopadhyay, M.A., F.R.A.S., F.R.S.E., and

Babu Golapchandra Sarkar, M.A., B.L., regarding the time of holding the University Examinations :—

"(a) The Committee do recommend to the Faculty that the Examinations be held about the same time as this year, viz. :—The Entrance Examination about the first week in March, and the F. A. and the B. A. Examinations about the third week in March. So soon, however, as it is found practicable, all these Examinations should be held together.

(b) The Committee do also recommend that the lists be provisionally published as soon as the results of Schools and Colleges have been collected for the first time without waiting for the results of the re-examination of those who fail in one subject.

(c) That considering the interval by which the despatch of the papers to Ceylon and Burma must precede the Examination, suggestion (2) of the letter of Drs. Sircar and Mukhopadhyay cannot be adopted. The Committee recommend that some date at least six weeks before the Examination be appointed as the last day on which applications should be received.

(d) That Examiners be asked to adhere strictly to Rule 13 of Rules for Examinations (Calendar for 1898, p. 129), and that those Examiners who do not follow the Rule, be reported to the Syndicate.

(e) That the attention of the Head Examiners in the Entrance Examination be called to Rule 14 of the rules for Examinations (Calendar for 1898, p. 129) that the re-examination of Entrance papers is to be conducted by the Junior Examiners."

RESOLVED—

That the recommendations of the Committee be referred back to that body for re-consideration, and that they be requested to submit a fresh report giving reasons for their recommendations before the 1st of November, 1898.

J. H. GILLILAND,
Registrar.

176. Raja Pyarimohan Mukerjee welcomed the new Vice-Chancellor, and said they must all congratulate themselves on having Sir Francis Maclean as their Vice-Chancellor.

Rai Lalmadhab Mukerjee, Bahadur, said they must thank, not only the Chancellor for having selected Sir Francis Maclean as their Vice-Chancellor, but also Sir Francis himself for having accepted the appointment. The University was to be congratulated on having Sir Francis as its Vice-Chancellor.

The Vice-Chancellor expressed his thanks for the kind manner in which the Members of the Senate had received him, and said he would do all that lay in his power to further the interests of the University.

177. The Syndicate laid before the Senate the following recommendation of the Faculty of Law :—

“That Mr. F. Peacock be elected Tagore Law Professor for the year 1898-99, and that the subject of his lectures be ‘The Law of Easements in British India.’”

Maulavi Muhammad Yousuff, Klian Bahadur, moved that Mr. F. Peacock be elected Tagore Law Professor for the year 1898-99, and that the subject of his lectures be “The Law of Easements in British India.”

Babu Ramcharan Mitra, M. A., B. L., seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

178. Rai Suryyakumar Sarbadhikari, Bahadur, moved that, as recommended by the Syndicate, Tarakeswar Chakrabarti, who passed the 1st M. B. Examination in 1897 and the 2nd L. M. S. Examination in 1898, be permitted to appear at the next 2nd M. B. Examination without further attendance at lectures.

179. Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyay moved that, as recommended by the Syndicate, Indubhushan Brahmachari, M.A., be permitted to appear at the ensuing Premchand Roychand Studentship Examination, although he has failed to submit his application within the time specified in para. 7 of the rules framed by the Senate for the Premchand Roychand Studentship Examination (p. 204, Calendar, 1898).

Rev. Dr. K. S. Macdonald seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

180. The Hon'ble Kalicharan Banurji moved that, as recommended by the Syndicate, S. T. Wait be permitted to appear at the F. A. Examination in 1900 without passing the Entrance Examination, on the ground of his having passed the Senior Local Examination of the Cambridge University.

Mr. J. S. Zemin seconded the motion, which was carried unanimously.

181. The Syndicate laid before the Senate a letter from Babu Golapchandra Sarkar, M.A., B.L., and seven other Members of the Senate, containing the following proposition :—

“That a Committee of the Senate be appointed to report on the following points :—

(i) The very great delay that has taken place in the publication of the results of the last examinations.

(ii) The unusually low percentage of candidates passed in the B. A. Examination held during the last three years.

(iii) The circumstances under which questions were set outside the prescribed courses in the different Arts Examinations held during the present year.

And that the Committee be requested to submit their report at their earliest convenience.”

The Syndicate laid before the Senate the following statement with reference to the points raised in the letter :—

1. With reference to the first point raised in Babu Golapchandra Sarkar's letter, viz. :—“The very great delay that has taken place in the publication of the results of the last examinations,” the Syndicate would note these facts :—(a) The Entrance Examination commenced on the 7th March, and the F. A. and B. A. Examinations on the 21st March. The latest dates fixed for the submission of marks by Examiners were—for Entrance Sub-Examiners, 7th May; for Entrance Head Examiners, 14th May; for F. A. Examiners, 9th May; for B. A. Examiners, 15th May. The Entrance results were gazetted on the 25th June; the F. A. on the 29th June; the B. A. on the 13th July. Provisional lists, however, were issued for the Entrance on the 2nd June; for the F. A. on the 22nd June; for the B. A. on the 23rd June. (b) One of the Examiners died, and five were taken ill, at different stages, for whose work, in whole or in part, fresh arrangements had to be made, with the result that the regular course of tabulation was interrupted. (c) Exception having been taken to certain questions in some of the examination papers, the Syndicate had to issue instructions for obviating, if possible, any hardship to candidates, likely to result therefrom, and these instructions necessitated, so far, a revision of answer papers. (d) Having regard to the unsatisfactory results of the Entrance and F. A. Examinations, the Moderators had to meet more than once, to secure that justice was done to the Examinees, and a final adjustment was not found possible until the 27th May. The Entrance Re-Examination lists were sent out on the 4th June, and the F. A. on the 10th June. The B. A. Re-Examination lists were sent out on the 18th June. The Board of Examiners met on the 2nd July, and found it necessary to provide for a considerable modification of the results. It took some time to give effect to these provisions.

2. With reference to the second point raised in the letter, viz. :—"The unusually low percentage of candidates passed in the B. A. Examination held during the last three years," the Syndicate would subjoin the following table of percentage :—

		A. COURSE.	B. COURSE.
1890	...	43'06	56'08
1891	...	25'38	38'65
1892	...	20'68	42'79
1893	...	21'02	39'67
1894	...	37'19	34'37
1895	...	28'31	40'46
1896	...	23'8	29'02
1897	...	26'35	24'31
1898	...	27'43	22'82

3. With reference to the third point raised in the letter, viz. :—"The circumstances under which questions were set outside the prescribed courses in the different Arts Examinations held during the present year," the Syndicate have no "circumstances" to note. The Syndicate had their attention called to the fact, and they did what they could to provide that the Examinees were not prejudiced by it. Provision has been made for moderating some of the papers in the Entrance and F. A. Examinations.

Babu Lalbihari Mitra, M.A., B.L., moved—

"That a Committee of the Senate be appointed to report on the following points :—

(i) The very great delay that has taken place in the publication of the results of the last examinations.

(ii) The unusually low percentage of candidates passed in the B. A. Examination held during the last three years.

(iii) The circumstances under which questions were set outside the prescribed courses in the different Arts Examinations held during the present year.

And that the Committee be requested to submit their report at their earliest convenience."

Babu Mahendranath Ray seconded the motion.

Babu Herambachandra Maitra moved the following amendments :—

(1) That the Syndicate be requested to provide against such delay in the publication of the results of the examinations as there has been this year ; (2) that the Syndicate be requested to provide against questions being set outside the prescribed course ; and (3) that the Syndicate be requested to consider and report as to the causes of the unusually low percentage of candidates passed in the B. A. Examination in recent years, and to make a statement as to whether any steps should be taken to prevent such disastrous results.

Rai Jatindránath Chaudhuri, M. A., B. L., seconded the amendments.

A discussion followed, in which Babu Chunilall Bose, Mr. G. W. Küchler, Mr. C. R. Wilson, Rev. J. Morrison, Babu Bhupendranath Bose, Rev. A. P. Begg, Rai Lalmadhab Mookerjee, Bahadur, and Dr Asutosh Mukerjee took part.

Babu Herambachandra Maitra's amendments were then put to the meeting.

The first amendment was lost, 10 voting for, and 16 against it.

The second amendment was carried, 12 voting for, and 11 against it. The third amendment was lost, 6 voting for, and 19 against it.

The original motion was next put to the meeting, and was declared lost, 4 voting for, and 22 against it. Babu Herambachandra Maitra's second amendment was then put to the meeting as a substantive motion, and was declared lost, 11 voting for, and 15 against it.

182. Babu Lalbihari Mitra moved that the following papers should be printed and published in extenso in the Minutes for the information of the Members of the Senate, viz. :—

(1) All complaints made to the Syndicate against question papers, mode of examination, Examiners, and the like ;

(2) All complaints made to the Syndicate relating to loss of answer papers of candidates ;

(3) The rules framed by Head Examiners in consultation with the other Examiners in the Entrance Examination for the purpose of securing uniformity in allotting marks ;

(4) All directions which the Syndicate may issue to Examiners ; and

(5) The proceedings of the Moderators and the Board of Examiners in giving grace marks.

This motion not being seconded, fell through.

On the motion of the Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor, the accounts were passed.

331. The Officiating Registrar laid before the Senate the Report of the Committee appointed on the 16th April, 1898, to draw up a scheme for the institution of Degrees in Science.

REPORT OF SCIENCE COMMITTEE.

At a Meeting of the Senate held on the 16th of April, 1898, the following resolution was passed: that a Committee, consisting of not more than eight members, be appointed to draw up a scheme of science degrees founded on the F. A. Examination.

The Members of the Committee appointed in accordance with that resolution, have now the honour to submit the following report for the consideration of the Senate.

It is proposed to institute at present two new degrees, the B.Sc. and the D.Sc., and the necessary course of study is indicated in the scheme here appended.

B.Sc. DEGREE.

1. A student, who has passed the F. A. Examination, shall, after the lapse of two years, and on producing evidence that he has attended certain courses of lectures in institutions recognized by the University, be allowed to present himself for examination in certain science subjects to be afterwards defined, and, if he satisfy the examiners appointed by the University in these subjects, that he possess a competent knowledge of the same, he shall be admitted to the degree of B.Sc.

2. The subjects for the ordinary degrees shall be the following:—

- I. Mathematics (Statics and Dynamics),
 - II. Physics,
 - III. Chemistry,
- together with a simple practical examination in either II or III.

And any three of the following:—

- IV. Physiology.
- V. Botany.
- VI. Zoology.
- VII. Geology.

VIII. Mineralogy.

IX. A further Course in Mathematics (Hydrostatics and Astronomy).

X. Mental Science.

XI. Moral Science.

NOTE.—In each subject one paper only shall be set.

3. Honours may be taken in any two or more of the above subjects, but candidates who wish to take honours in Mathematics shall be required to take up the entire honours course in that subject which will accordingly be considered equivalent to two ordinary subjects.

4. In order to secure thoroughness, a student may obtain the degree of B.Sc. after examination in Physics and Chemistry, and any two of the other subjects, provided he pass in the honour standard in at least three of the subjects which he selects, it being understood that as before Mathematics (I and IX together) shall count as a double subject.

5. The present B. Course for the B. A. Examination should be ultimately abolished. It should be retained, however, for five years and maintain its place during that period along with the corresponding course for the B.Sc. degree. After five years have elapsed, the question of extending the existence of the B. Course for a further period shall be brought before, and decided by, the Senate.

6. The written papers in the Science subjects shall be the same, with the few exceptions to be presently mentioned, both as regards pass and honours, in the examination for the B.A. and B.Sc. degree. For the B.Sc. degree in the subject of Mathematics there shall be one pass paper in Statics and Dynamics corresponding to heading I, and one pass paper in Hydrostatics and Astronomy corresponding to heading IX. The standard however shall be the same as for the B.A. degree, the first paper corresponding to the present third year, and the second to the present fourth year course.

Further the honours papers in the subjects of Biology and Geology will be different from those for the B.A. Examination. This would in any case involve only the slightest additional examining work on the part of the University, as long as the B. Course is maintained, but as it is highly probable that all who take honours in these subjects will prefer to take the B. Sc. degree, it may be regarded as practically certain that there will be no increase in the number of papers set.

7. The B.Sc. degree shall have the same value as B. A. degree in so far as the latter is considered as a qualification for Government employment, admission to colleges or to any other degrees other than those of a purely literary character.

The following gives a comparative view of the courses for the B. A. degree and for the proposed B.Sc. degree.

B. A. DEGREE.

A. COURSE.

PASS.

- I. English.
- II. Mental and Moral Science, including Logic.
- And one of the following—

- IV. History of England and history of either India or of Greece and Rome : elements of Political Economy.

- V. Mathematics as in B. Course.

HONOURS.

M. A. DEGREE AND PRELIMINARY QUALIFICATION FOR D.Sc.

1. As long as the present B Course for the B.A. Examination is maintained, any candidate who has passed the B.Sc. Examination may be examined for the degree of M.A. in any one or more of the branches (3), (4), (5) given in para. 2, page 41, of Calcutta University Calendar.

2. If in addition he pass either before or after in one of the subsidiary subjects to be presently defined, he shall be considered eligible to present himself ultimately for examination for the degree of D.Sc.

3. If a candidate desire to qualify himself according to para. 2 for examination for the degree of D.Sc., he shall be required to show, before he presents himself for the M. A. Examination, that he has attended a course of instruction in the branches which he takes up at some affiliated institution for a period of not less than one academic year.

The following subsidiary subjects (the standard for which shall be intermediate to those for the B.Sc. and M.A. degrees) are recommended :—

- (a) A short course in Mathematics (3 Papers).
- (b) A course of applied Mathematics in Heat, Electricity and Magnetism (3 Papers).
- (c) A course of applied Mathematics in Light and Sound (3 Papers).
- (d) A short general course in Chemistry (3 Papers, of which one shall be practical)
- (e) A course of experimental Physics in Heat, Electricity and Magnetism (3 Papers, of which one shall be practical).
- (f) The same in Light and Sound.
- (g) A short general course in Zoology (3 Papers, of which one shall be practical).
- (h) A short general course in Botany (3 Papers, of which one shall be practical).
- (j) A short general course in Physiology (3 Papers, of which one shall be practical).
- (k) Physiological Psychology, Anthropology and Sociology (3 Papers).

(4.) In Natural and Physical Science the principal and subsidiary subjects shall be combined in the following manner :—

- (A) [Chemistry] with either (e) or (f).
- (B) & (C) [Physical Science] with either (a) or (d).
- (D) [Botany] with (g).
- (E) [Physiology and Zoology] with (h).
- (F) [Geology and Mineralogy] with either (d), (g) or (h).

In Mathematics candidates shall be allowed to take up either (b) or (c).

In Mental and Moral Science (j) or (k) shall be the subsidiary subject.

With regard to the subject (E), the Committee are of opinion that the grouping of the subjects Physiology and Zoology under one head is unsatisfactory, and would recommend the Senate to move the Faculty of Arts to make a new classification of these subjects.

D. Sc. DEGREE.

1. An examination for the degree of D.Sc. shall be held every year. Any candidate, who has obtained the preliminary qualification (mentioned in para. 2 under the heading M. A. degree) not less than two academic years before, may appear at this examination.

2. The subjects for examination shall be (1) Mathematics, (2) Chemistry, (3) Physics, (4) Botany, (5) Zoology, (6) Physiology, (7) Geology and Mineralogy, (8) Mental and Moral Science, and the candidate shall be allowed to select and present himself for examination in some special branch of any one of these subjects.

3. Application for permission to appear at this examination should be sent in not less than nine months before the examination, and should be accompanied by a statement of the special branch selected by the candidate.

4. As soon as possible after the last day for receiving applications, the Syndicate shall appoint a Board of Examiners for the ensuing examination.

5. The Members of the Board of Examiners thus constituted shall meet at the earliest convenient date and determine whether the special branch selected by any candidate is sufficiently wide to form the entire material of his written and practical examination, and if not, they shall select some additional branches in which they consider it advisable that the candidate should be examined, it being distinctly understood that only such branches shall be added as are intimately connected with the subject matter of the candidate's original selection.

6. Should the candidate satisfy the Examiners that his attainments are of a sufficiently high order, he shall be required to submit, after a further period of not less than six months, an original thesis dealing with part of the special branch selected by him, and if this receive the approval of the Examiners, he shall become entitled to receive the degree of D.Sc. of Calcutta University.

A few additional remarks in support and explanation of some of the details of the above scheme may perhaps be desirable.

It will be seen that one important feature is the exclusion of English from the examination for the degree of B.Sc. The chief consideration which has influenced the Members of the Committee in thus excluding English is that in so doing, they believe they have acted in accordance with the terms of the reference made to them by the Senate. In view, however, of the possibility that this point may again be raised when the subject comes up for discussion, they desire to put on record that they are unanimously of opinion that English should not form one of the subjects for the B.Sc. degree: (1) because they consider that no practicable scheme for the institution of a B.Sc. degree of the same standard as the present B. A. degree can be framed if English be included in the schedule of subjects, (2) because apart altogether from the practicability of the inclusion of English, they regard it as undesirable to exact from the student of science a further test of his knowledge of English than that which is afforded by the F.A. Examination.

Paragraph 2 defines the subjects for the ordinary pass degree. The chief object, which has been here kept in view, has been to make the standard as far as possible the same as that for the B. A. degree. To ensure this the same number of papers are set in both cases, and there is practically the same number of subjects. For the sake of convenience, however, the subjects have been grouped singly and not two together as is the case in the B. A. Thus Physics and Chemistry, which rank as one subject in the B.A., are now divided into two, but both in the B. A. and the B. Sc. there will be one paper in Physics and one paper in Chemistry. The exclusion of English, which ranks as a double subject for the B. A., is balanced by the introduction of either a corresponding double subject or of two single subjects. By preserving the parallel with the B. A., it has been moreover possible to save the University from any material addition to the work of examination, since with one or two slight exceptions, the same papers in the scientific subjects will serve both for the B.A. and the B.Sc. Examinations.

With regard to the compulsory subjects, it has to be noted, that while the examination for the B.Sc. is intended to rank with that for the B. A. degree, and therefore bears to a certain extent the stamp of finality, it is at the same time the first genuine scientific examination which an undergraduate will have to undergo, and it is therefore essential that these subjects should be made compulsory which form the necessary ground work of an ordinary scientific education. Bearing this in mind, it is obvious that Physics and Chemistry, together with a course in Mathematics further than that which is required for the F. A. Examination, should be made obligatory.

Paragraph 3 needs no comment, but paragraph 4 is an innovation, as far as this University is concerned. The principle, however, is one which has been adopted by many Universities, and the Committee are of opinion that its introduction would materially enhance the value of the present scheme. Not only would students of exceptional talent be enabled thereby to devote themselves more exclusively to those subjects for which they possessed a particular aptitude, but colleges would likewise be put in a position to make a speciality of certain branches of science, a proceeding by which the course of education in Bengal would undoubtedly gain.

Paragraph 5 provides for the ultimate abolition of the B Course for the B.A. after 5 years. The Committee have recommended the postponement of this question for two reasons. In the first place, it will enable the University to see how the present scheme works before it finally decides on abolishing the B. Course. In the second place, it must be borne in mind that the candidate for the ordinary B.Sc. degree will at first, as far as facilities for attending lectures are concerned, be at a disadvantage as compared with the B.A. student. It is true that a student is permitted to attend lectures at the Medical College, but the fee for a Single Course (i.e., 40), is sufficiently high to act as a deterrent. If the B. Course were then abolished at once, a student, who under ordinary circumstances would have taken up that Course, might consider it a grievance that the attainment of a degree in Science subjects was attended with greater difficulty than before. Though it is clear therefore that the B. Course must ultimately be abolished, time should be given to the various colleges, in which Science is taught, to adjust their teaching arrangements to the altered conditions. At the Presidency College at least it is hoped that lectureships in Botany and Zoology may shortly be established, and the institution of inter-collegiate lectures may perhaps furnish an ultimate solution of the difficulty involved in the provision of adequate scientific teaching.

It has already been noted that the proposed B.Sc. Examination partakes to a certain extent of the character of an introductory examination in science. It is therefore highly desirable that some intermediate step should exist between an examination of the general character thus rendered necessary and the extreme specialization which would naturally characterise the examination for the final degree in Science. The members of the Committee have reluctantly come to the conclusion that the present examination for the M. A. degree being of too specialised a character does not furnish a satisfactory intermediate test of the kind desired. They have accordingly decided to recommend modification of the M.A. Examination by the introduction of subsidiary subjects in the manner defined in the above scheme. At the same time it has been thought best not to institute for the present a new degree at this stage of a student's career, but to allow Bachelors of Science to become eligible for the degree of M.A., in exactly the same way as Bachelors of Art are at the present moment. A B.Sc. will thus be placed at no disadvantage in comparison with a B.A.; should, however, the former desire to proceed ultimately to the final degree in Science, he should be required to shew, by passing in some subsidiary subject, that his scientific studies have not been unduly specialised.

The portion of the scheme dealing with the degree of D.Sc. needs little comment. The highly specialised character of this final test is the logical outcome of what has gone before, and in framing the regulations for the degree, this Committee have followed closely the lines which have been laid down in recent times by most of the Universities of Great Britain.

• In conclusion the Committee are of opinion that such defects as may be found in the above scheme, are due in great measure to the peculiar conditions attaching to the problem which they had to solve. They have throughout their labours been guided by the consideration that a scheme of science degrees must necessarily conform to the special requirements of Calcutta University, and must cause no unnecessary dislocation of the system and methods already prevailing. At the same time they have endeavoured, as far as lay in their power, not to sacrifice efficiency to the above consideration, and it remains with the Senate to decide how far they have been successful.

While still adhering to the view expressed in the Report of the Science Degrees Committee considered at the meeting of the Senate held on the 16th April, 1898, I think that if any Degree in Science below that of Doctor of Science is to be instituted, the scheme embodied in the foregoing report is on the whole a proper and workable one, and it should have my full support.

GOOROO DASS BANERJEE,

26th November, 1898.

Mr. Pedler moved that the Report be adopted. The motion was seconded by Raja Pearymohan Mukerjee, C.S.I., and supported by Mr. A. F. M. Abdur Rahman, Khan Bahadur, and Babu Chunilal Basu.

Babu Mahendranath Ray moved the following amendment :—

That the Report be sent back to the Committee with a request that Regulations be framed and the subjects defined for the several proposed examinations, and that meanwhile the Report be circulated in accordance with the usual practice of the University and in such matters to the Heads of affiliated Institutions for opinion.

The amendment was seconded by Rai Jatindranath Chaudhuri

Babu Jogindrachandra Ghosh, Mr. A. F. M. Abdur Rahman, Khan Bahadur, Rai Lalmadhab Mukerjee, Rev. A. P. Begg, Rev. Father Lafont, the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Banerjee, Mr. Eliot, and Maulavi Muhammad Yusoof, Khan Bahadur, spoke in favor of the original motion and opposed the amendment.

Babu Herambachandra Mitra, Babu Adharchandra Mukerji, The Hon'ble Mr. Kalicharan Banurji and Babu Lalbihari Mitra supported the amendment.

The amendment, on being put to the vote was declared lost.

Dr. Asutosh Mukerji, in rising to move certain amendments of which he had given notice, suggested that it was desirable to take the sense of the Meeting on the general question of the institution of degrees in science before he proceeded with the amendment, as they assumed that the Senate approved of the institution of such degrees.

Thereupon Mr. Pedler moved the following Resolution :—

- That the Senate approve of the granting of a Bachelor of Science degree leading up to the final degree of Doctor in Science, and that the principal qualification for the latter degree shall be the ability of the candidate to carry out original work or investigation in the subject in which he takes this degree.

Dr. Asutosh Mukerji seconded the motion. The motion was carried unanimously.

The further discussion of the original motion for the adoption of the Report was adjourned.

Examination, shall, after the lapse of two years, and on producing evidence that he has attended certain courses of lectures in institutions recognized by the University, be allowed to present himself for examination in certain science subjects to be afterwards defined, and, if he satisfy the Examiners appointed by the University in these subjects that he possesses a competent knowledge of the same, he shall be admitted to the degree of B. Sc.

2. The subjects for the ordinary degree shall be the following :—

I. English. One paper to be set requiring short essays to be written on some portion of a subject in (a) Physical Science or Chemistry, and (b) in one other of the optional subjects taken up by the candidate. The Examination in English shall be conducted mainly as a test in Composition.

II Mathematics (Statics and Dynamics).

III. Physics.

IV. Chemistry, together with a simple practical examination in both Physics and Chemistry.

And any two of the following :—

5. Physiology.

6. Botany.

7. Zoology.

9. Mineralogy.

Note.—A simple practical examination shall be compulsory in each of the above optional subjects.

10. A further Course in Mathematics (Hydrostatics and Astronomy).

Note.—In each subject one paper only shall be set.

3. Honours may be taken in any two or more of the above subjects, but candidates who wish to take honours in Mathematics shall be required to take up the entire honours course in that subject, which will accordingly be considered equivalent to two ordinary subjects.

4. In order to secure thoroughness, a student may obtain the degree of B.Sc. after examination in Physics and Chemistry, and any two of the other subjects, provided he pass in the honour standard in at least three of the subjects which he selects, it being understood that as before Mathematics (II and IO together) shall count as a double subject.

- (A) [Chemistry] with either (e) or (f).
- (B) & (C) [Physical Science] with either (a) or (b).
- (D) [Botany] with (g).
- (E) [Physiology and Zoology] with (h).
- (F) [Geology and Mineralogy] with either (d), (g) or (i).

In Mathematics, candidates shall be allowed to take up either (b) or (c).

With regard to the subject (E), the Committee are of opinion that the grouping of the subjects Physiology and Zoology under one head is unsatisfactory, and would recommend the Senate to move the Faculty of Arts to make a new classification of these subjects.

D. Sc. DEGREE.

1. An examination for the degree of D.Sc. shall be held every year. Any candidate, who has obtained the preliminary qualification (mentioned in para. 2 under the heading M.A. degree) not less than two academic years before, may appear at this examination. A candidate who has passed the M.A. Examination in two scientific subjects shall be exempted from the examination in the preliminary qualification for D.Sc.

2. The subjects for examination shall be (1) Mathematics, (2) Chemistry, (3) Physics, (4) Botany, (5) Zoology, (6) Physiology, (7) Geology and Mineralogy, and the candidate shall be allowed to select and present himself for examination in some special branch of any one of these subjects.

A B.Sc. who has obtained a first class in each of the scientific subjects at the M.A. Examination, and the B.Sc. who has obtained the Premchand Roychand Studentship in scientific subjects shall be exempted from the theoretical examination for D.Sc.

3. Application for permission to appear at this examination should be sent in not less than nine months before the examination, and should be accompanied by a statement of the special branch selected by the candidate.

4. As soon as possible after the last day for receiving applications, the Syndicate shall appoint a Board of Examiners for the ensuing examination.

5. The Members of the Board of Examiners thus constituted shall meet at the earliest convenient date and determine whether the special branch selected by any candidate is sufficiently wide to form the entire material of his written and practical examination, and if not they shall select some additional branches in which they consider it advisable that the candidate should be examined, it being distinctly understood that only such branches shall be added as are intimately connected with the subject matter of the candidate's original selection.

6. Should the candidate satisfy the Examiners that his attainments are of a sufficiently high order, he shall be required to submit, after a further period of not less than six months, an original thesis dealing with part of the special branch selected by him, and if this receive the approval of the Examiners, he shall become entitled to receive the degree of D.Sc. of the Calcutta University.

Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyay seconded the motion.

The motion, being put to the vote, was carried.

371. The Senate was convened for the purpose of conferring degrees.

The Vice-Chancellor having declared the Convocation opened, the Graduates of the year were admitted to their respective degrees in the usual manner.

His Excellency the Chancellor then addressed the Convocation as follows :—

Mr. Vice-Chancellor, Ladies, and Gentlemen,—Among the most honourable, and certainly not the least pleasant, duties that devolve upon a Viceroy is that of presiding as Chancellor at the Convocation of this University. If I may venture to say so, to me the task is one of peculiar gratification and interest, for I will not conceal from you that I am a University man to the core of my being ; and that deep down in me, behind the mask of the official immersed in public affairs, and beneath the uniform of State, there lurks an academic element, ineradicable and strong, connecting me with my old University days, and affecting me with a natural sympathy towards those who, although in different circumstances and under a different clime, can also claim connection with a University. It has been reserved for you in fact to put the crown upon an otherwise imperfect academic career. I have been an Undergraduate of a University, a Bachelor of Arts, a Master of Arts, a Fellow of a College, and a Member of Convocation. But a Chancellor I have never been until to-day—and perhaps when Sir Francis Maclean and I some years ago entered Parliament together—a situation which is not very productive of academic repose—we little thought that a day would one day arrive when, clad in fine raiment, we should appear upon a dais side by side as the Chancellor and Vice-Chancellor of a University. I must be allowed to congratulate you upon having secured the services of Sir Francis Maclean as your Vice-Chancellor. That a Chief Justice of the High Court of Calcutta should be the de facto head of your governing body seems to me a very fitting exemplification of the harmony that should prevail between two cognate branches of human knowledge and learning. And may I be allowed also to congratulate myself upon a discovery which I have made from a study of the proceedings on previous occasions, namely, that, while but few observations are expected from me this afternoon, the real burden of the performance will fall upon shoulders that are so well fitted to bear it ; in other words, upon the Vice-Chancellor himself. Though I am but a new comer in this country, I am yet not so ignorant of its educational system as not to know that when I speak of my own connection with a University in England, I am speaking of something very different from the University which prevails here. A residential and teaching University such as Oxford or Cambridge, with its venerable buildings, its historic associations, the crowded and healthy competition of its life, its youthful friendships, its virile influence upon character, its esprit de corps, cannot either in Great Britain or in any country be fairly compared with an examining and degree-giving University such as yours. They are alike in bearing the same name, and in constituting parts of the machinery by which in civilised countries all peoples work for the same ideal, namely, the cultivation of the higher faculties of man. But they are profoundly unlike in the influence that they exert upon the pupil, and in the degree to which they affect, not so much his profession, as his character and his life. Nevertheless, inevitable and obvious as these differences are, there may yet be in an examining University, and there is in such institutions in some parts of my own country, and still more abroad, an inherent influence, inseparable from the curriculum through which the student has had to pass before he can take his degree, which is not without its effect upon character and morals, which inspires in him something more than the hungry appetite for a diploma, and which turns him out something better than a sort of phonographic automaton into which have been spoken the ideas and thoughts of other men. I ask myself, may such a thing be said with any truth of the examining Universities of India? Now, at first sight, it may appear that I shall be met with an overwhelming chorus of denial. I shall be told—for I read it in many newspapers and in the speeches of public men—that our system of higher education in India is a failure; that it has sacrificed the formation of character upon the altar of cram; and that the Indian Universities turn out only a discontented horde of office seekers, whom we have educated for places which are not in existence for them to fill. Gentlemen, may I venture to suggest to you that one of the defects of the Anglo-Saxon character is this, that it is apt to be a little loud, both in self-praise and in self-condemnation. When we are contemplating our virtues, we sometimes annoy other people by the almost pharisaical complacency of our transports. But equally, I think, when we are diagnosing our faults, are we apt almost to revel in the superior quality of our transgressions. There is, in fact, a certain cant of self-depreciation as well as of self-laudation. I say to myself, therefore, in the first place, is it possible, and is it likely, that we have been, for years, teaching hundreds and thousands of young men,—even if the immediate object be the passing of an examination, and the winning of a degree,—a literature which contains invaluable lessons for character, and for life, and a science which is founded upon the reverent contemplation of Nature and her truths, without leaving a permanent impress upon the moral as well as the intellectual being of many who have passed through this course? I then proceed to ask the able officials by whom I am surrounded, and whose trained assistance makes the labour of a Viceroy of India a relaxation rather than a toil, whether they have observed any reflection of this beneficent influence in the quality and character of the young men who enter into the ranks of what is now known as the Provincial Service. And when I hear from them almost without dissent that there has been a marked upward trend in the honesty and integrity and capacity of the native officials in those departments of Government, then I decline altogether to dissociate cause and effect. I say that knowledge has not been altogether shamed by her children; and grave as the defects of our system may be, and room though there may be for reform, I refuse to join in a wholesale condemnation, which is as extravagant as it is unjust. But, gentlemen, when I admit the existence of imperfections, you may say that, as head of the Government, it is my duty to define them, and still more to find a remedy. May I remark in reply that, though I have been here long enough to find out that everything is not perfect, I have not been here long enough to dogmatise as to how perfection may be attained. Perhaps in succeeding years I may be able to express opinions which will be less presumptuous than they would be at the present time. On the whole, I believe the present system to be faulty, but not rotten, and I feel that cautious reform, and not wholesale reconstruction, should probably be the motto of our action. There is one consideration, however, by which I am forcibly impressed. I find myself the Chancellor of this University in virtue of my office as Viceroy of India, and I draw from this fact the not unnatural conclusion that the Government of India assumes some direct responsibility, not merely for this.

University, the functions of which, I am informed, extend over the Central Provinces, Burma, Assam, and Ceylon, as well as Bengal, but also over the entire system of which this University is the exemplar and head. At the same time I am not certain that the Supreme Government applies as close an attention to, or exercises as genuine a supervision over, education as it might do. There is no separate Educational Department in the Government of India, as we have in England, with an organisation and a staff of its own. There is no official charged with the ministerial or secretarial management of education alone. May it not be that we have been somewhat remiss ourselves in the task, and that we have been expecting the plant to flourish when we have not sufficiently exerted ourselves to trim and prune its branches? This only I will say before resuming my seat to-day, that the whole subject of education in this country, in which I think are involved both the reputation of England and the future of India, will, during my term of office, have my earnest attention, and that I shall hope annually to attend at this Convocation, and to show myself not unworthy of the honourable post which I am permitted to fill. It remains only for me to congratulate those who have received their degrees this afternoon, and to call upon the Vice-Chancellor to deliver his address.

The Hon'ble the Vice-Chancellor then addressed the Convocation as follows :—

Your Excellency and Gentlemen,—The quality of diffidence is one not generally attributed to the members of the profession to which for so many years I have had the honour to belong ; but I am speaking with every sincerity when I say that it is with a feeling of considerable misgiving that I rise to address you this afternoon. I have, in comparison with nearly every member of my present audience, had so limited an experience of India, and possess so slight a knowledge of the aims, the ambitions, and even the necessities of her people, and am so little versed in her educational requirements and demands, that I feel but poorly qualified to address you in the character of your Vice-Chancellor, and this feeling is the more intensified when I recall the names of the many distinguished men who, in by-gone days, have filled this chair. But, sir, be that as it may, I am satisfied that I am addressing an audience which will be sympathetic in its bearing, and lenient in its criticisms. Many of my predecessors, doubtless, have on occasions similar to the present indulged greatly to the pleasure and instruction of their audience in the expression of their views upon many subjects ranging over wide and diversified fields of enquiry and thought, but for myself, I feel that an address from your Vice-Chancellor at Convocation must, in reviewing the events of the past year, partake somewhat of a statistical nature, a characteristic which savours rather of dulness than of novelty or ingenuity.

Such incursion into those wider fields has been left to His Excellency, who has addressed us with an authority I do not possess, and with an eloquence I am powerless to command. And, sir, that leads me at once, on behalf of those present to-day, and on behalf of this University, to tender with every feeling of respect, and equally of admiration and regard, our warmest welcome to Your Excellency upon this the occasion of your first visit amongst us. While we fully recognise in Your Excellency the great qualities of the statesman—with which under another sky and in another place, whence spring some of the happiest reminiscences of my career, I have had the advantage of more intimate association—while we highly appreciate, as represented in your personality, the power of the orator, and the experience of the traveler, it is rather as the student, the scholar, and the author that we especially welcome you to-day. Educated at the greatest of our English public schools, passing thence to one of the greatest of our Universities, that of Oxford, you had a most distinguished career, attaining, amongst other prizes, that most coveted of distinctions, a Fellowship of All Souls, a career which, as your many friends predicted, would lead to yet greater things, and one which, at so early an age, has culminated, for the present, in the splendid position of Viceroy of India.

Most respectfully, withal most warmly, the Senate and the University offer you the heartiest of welcomes.

It is now my duty, in accordance with established usage, to refer to the losses which the University has sustained by death and retirement during the last year.

Death has robbed us of Sir Syed Ahmed, K.C.S.I., LL.D., who was appointed a member of our Senate in 1876. A member of the Governor-General's Council, his sterling work as a pioneer in the path of education may worthily attract our attention. Under his auspices the Muhammadan Anglo-Indian College at Aligarh was founded, a college which places a liberal education within the reach of the Moslem Community, and which has proved successful in reconciling the Muhammadan student to a consideration of Western science and literature. The system in vogue at that college, whereby the students are in residence, under the immediate control and directions of teachers, also in residence, with large play grounds at their disposal, might be usefully followed in other educational establishments in this country.

Babu Mohinimohan Ray was a Zemindar and a successful Pleader in the High Court, also a member of the Governor-General's Council. A man of charitable disposition, he placed a lakh of rupees at the disposal of the Government of Bengal, and the interest of this money is annually devoted to charitable purposes. He was a member of the Rent Law Commission, and a representative of the Faculty of Law on our Syndicate.

Babu Jagabandhu Bose was an M.D. of our University and a successful physician. He founded the Calcutta Medical School, which is a private institution, and was for some time the representative of the Faculty of Medicine on the Syndicate, and as an acknowledgment of his eminent services in the cause of medical education in Bengal, the following resolution was unanimously adopted by the Faculty :—

“ That the Faculty desires to place on record the loss which it has sustained by the death of Babu Jagabandhu Bose, M.D.”

Passing now to our Fellows who have retired, the first and most prominent name is that of the late Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, Sir Alexander Mackenzie, K.C.S.I.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie's services to India, and especially to Bengal, extended over so long a period, are so well known, and so highly appreciated by all who knew him, many of whom are present this afternoon, his striking and successful career, which, so far as this country is concerned, terminated in his winning what is sometimes styled the blue riband of his service, has been so recently present to you all, that I feel it would be a work almost of supererogation further to refer to them. We can only regret that that career was so abruptly terminated by ill-health.

As regards Sir George King, K.C.I.E., M.B., F.R.S., the Bengal Government by his retirement, to quote the Government Notification, "lost one of its most distinguished and valued servants." Sir George King's labours in the field of morphological and systematic botany greatly extended our knowledge of the flora of India and the Malay Archipelago, and established his reputation as a Botanist throughout the scientific world.

Dr. D. D. Cunningham was a distinguished Specialist, a Companion of the Order of the Indian Empire, and a Fellow of the Royal Society. He was appointed a Fellow of our University in 1877, was for many years the Professor of Physiology in our Medical College, and was the author of very many scientific papers.

Passing to Sir Charles Lyall, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., B.A., a most distinguished member of the Indian Civil Service, I feel it would be almost an impertinence on my part to refer at any length to his services in India, for they are so well known. Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department, and subsequently Chief Commissioner of the Central Provinces, he was elected a Fellow of our University in 1878, was a distinguished Arabic scholar, and examined our students at our highest examinations in Oriental Classics.

Mr. Justice Trevelyan, my immediate Predecessor as Vice-Chancellor, was appointed a Fellow in 1885, and was, as most of you are aware, a Judge of the High Court. He had lived amongst you many years and was well known to most of you. He was a most upright, kind and conscientious Judge, and well merited the sympathetic words which the late Viceroy on this occasion last year addressed to him.

Dr. Crombie was a very distinguished member of the I.M.S., and a very successful physician in Calcutta.

Mr. J. G. H. Glass, C.I.E., late Secretary to the Government of Bengal, in the Public Works Department, was one whose services were held in the highest estimation by that Government.

Our late Director of Public Instruction, Dr. Caulfeild Alymer Martin, J.L.D., was appointed a member of the Senate in 1885. He joined the Education Department in 1864, and was an Inspector of Schools during the greater part of his service. His valuable qualities as Inspector secured for him, towards the close of his career, the highest appointment open to an educational officer.

I now pass to laying before you, as briefly as I can, a statement showing the number of candidates and the number who have passed at the University Examinations for 1898. The statement has been prepared in a tabular form, and is as follows :—

The following statement shows the number of candidates and the number passed at the University Examinations, 1898 :—

NAMES OF EXAMINATIONS	Number of Candidates.	Number passed.

Second L. M. S. Re-Examination	27	23

This statement compares very favourably with that of former years, and there is but one comment I propose to make upon it, and that is a comparison between the figures of 1857, our first year, and the figures of last year. In 1857, there were for the Entrance Examination 244 candidates, and 160 who passed : in 1898, the candidates were 5,989, nearly 6,000, and those who passed 3,193. These figures illustrate most forcibly the powerful hold which the University has established upon the educational ambitions of young Bengal.

The year, sir, has been, so far as the University is concerned, a time of peace. There have been none of those stirring questions which in by-gone days have agitated the minds of the Syndicate and the Senate ; but, withal, it has been a period of advance. In one direction, and an important direction, the Senate, after some difficulty, has arrived at a conclusion upon a subject which has occupied its serious attention for some years.

Certain progressive and scientific members of the Senate have been long engaged in preparing a scheme for establishing degrees in Science as an incentive to the improvement of scientific instruction in our colleges, and in the hope, as time goes on, that the people may be taught to apply scientific knowledge to the development, by means of arts and manufactures, of the vast productive power of this fertile province, weighted as it is with what a writer on economics might almost term an appalling population.

It has been observed that the Bengalees as a people evince aptitude for the assimilation of theoretic knowledge, but that at the same time they lack the power or insight of applying theory to practice. It will be the work of this University to foster this, their natural capacity, to train and eventually develop it for the amelioration of the condition of the people, and to try to divert the intelligence of the youth of Bengal from the path, perhaps the rather insidious path, of literary and purely philosophic contemplation, to a more open country, to the fields of scientific inquiry, as well as to the application of scientific knowledge to the practical requirements of life.

I am gratified to be able to state that at a recent meeting of the Senate it was determined to establish degrees in Science, and a scheme has been approved for carrying that determination into effect. It is an experiment, but one in which we think we discern the germs of success, and though, in this respect, we may have somewhat lagged behind other Universities, I now congratulate you upon this distinct step in advance.

This University, regarded, I believe, and equally appreciated by the natives of this Province as one of the most beneficent Institutions established under British Rule, has been doing a good and great work, not only in giving a powerful impetus to the spread of education, but in ensuring a supply of well qualified men for the Public Service, men "to whose probity," to quote the language of the Education Report of 1884, "you may with increased confidence commit offices of trust."

The Subordinate Judicial Service of the Province is now recruited almost entirely from the ranks of the graduates of this University, and its degrees in Law are considered as a sufficient test of fitness. Again, the medical and educational service enlist our graduates in fairly large numbers. For the Subordinate Executive Service, our degrees in arts and law were in former years accepted as a sufficient qualification, but, recently, a special examination has to be passed. It may be at least worthy of the consideration of the Government, whether in the case of University graduates in Honours, such special examinations might not be dispensed with, in which case deserved encouragement would be afforded to those graduates who have distinguished themselves, without impairing the efficiency of the Public Service.

I now pass to one of the most pleasant of my duties, vis., to congratulate those who have taken their degrees to-day, and in a few words to tender to you some friendly advice. So much has been said in this direction by my many predecessors, that I feel it is difficult to say anything into which the element of novelty is likely to enter. You have ended your student days, and the more serious, and the more arduous days of your life are commencing. Again and again have I heard it said in my own country, of my own profession, of many other professions and of many other avocations in life, how hard a matter it is to secure even a small competency or, as it is put, to "get on," so keen is the competition, so severe the struggle ; and I can scarcely credit, from what I have heard, that the struggle is less keen, or the competition less severe in this our Indian Empire, with its teeming and ever increasing population.

There is no royal road to success, but to achieve success in whatever he may undertake in his path through life, is certainly an honest aim and a legitimate ambition of the young, though when attained, it does not always realise their earlier expectations. There are some to whom is vouchsafed the great gift of genius, but, lacking that, amongst the qualities most likely to result in success in life are honesty, industry and determination. An industrious and determined man will often in the race of life outpace the man of greater natural ability, but of less application, and I am using no mere figure of speech when I say that one who at the outset of his career is determined to attain a certain goal, very frequently, though he may have to wait, reaches it in the end. And here the quality of patience plays so prominent a part, and there is, perhaps, no profession in which that quality is so indispensable as in the study and the pursuit of the profession of the Law. There are many instances well known to the practitioners in England in which men of marked ability have had to wait long and wearily for their opportunity : but at last it has come, their merits become recognized and their success assured. Their patience, as their merit, is rewarded. So, if you have to wait, remember that others have had to do that before you; and do not be discouraged.

I am conscious that amongst those who have taken their degrees to-day, a large number will follow the profession of the Law. Amongst the graduates of this University a very large proportion are lawyers, and the numbers are not unlikely to increase. I fear, as lawyers, we are not over-popular. We are regarded as a sort of necessary evil, but our consolation must be that the world hitherto has not been able to get along without us ; and it never will be able to get along without us. I agree that a permanent superfluity of lawyers in our social economy would be undesirable, but at the same time I can quite appreciate the motives and the attractions which prompt and draw the youth of so many countries to the pursuit of the law. To those of you who propose to follow that pursuit,

I would give a very few words of special advice, which my now rather long experience may justify me in doing.

First let me impress upon all beginners the necessity of being absolutely honourable in every transaction, and do not, for the purpose of gaining some temporary and fleeting advantage in the conduct of any case, swerve by one hair's breadth from the path of honour. Recollect again that in the conduct of a case it is your client's, and your client's interests alone which are to be considered: think of him, and only of him, and avoid the fostering of litigation. A great advocate is a great man, but the man who prostitutes his advocacy to promote his own mercenary ends, is a creature only to be despised. There is, perhaps, amongst some of the native gentlemen who practise in the courts of this country a tendency to over-refinement and subtlety in their arguments. This over-subtlety and over-technicality, if not a danger, is certainly a fault, a fault which I believe the reckless layman is ever inclined to attribute to every lawyer. Some of you may be astonished when I say that law and common sense proceed hand in hand much more than many of you may conceive. The greater my experience in the principles which govern judicial decisions, the more am I satisfied of their harmony with common sense. A very technical lawyer can never be a really great one, and I would advise you, when you come to the actual practice of the law in the courts of this country, to ascertain first the principle which ought to govern the decision of the particular case, to argue for that principle, to prefer as the objective point of your argument a conclusion which satisfies rather the criterion of common sense, and which is more in harmony with the practical side and features of every day life, than to aim for a result based upon over-subtlety and even unreasonableness. I am only tendering advice: I do not desire to be misunderstood: I am not saying that what I speak of as a fault is present to every native advocate: on the contrary, I am struck, most forcibly struck, with the marked ability and knowledge which characterises the arguments of many of the native gentlemen who practise in the courts of Calcutta, and to whose arguments the court is frequently much indebted. You may safely emulate them.

It has been said of the great Napoleon's soldiers, that every one of them might carry in his knapsack the baton of a marshal of France, so, remember, that to each of you there is open at least the possibility of terminating your career upon the Bench of the High Court, one, to my mind, of the greatest and most valued prizes open to native gentlemen of this Empire, a most honourable ambition for an honourable career. Make this the goal of your own ambitions.

I must not detain you further. Remember, gentlemen, throughout your careers how much you owe to your University: by those careers endeavour to shed yet further lustre upon her, and, if that be not practicable, strive at least, by not swerving from the paths of rectitude and of honour, not to permit the shadow of disgrace to hover, even for a passing moment, over your Alma Mater, the University of Calcutta.

The Vice-Chancellor then declared the Convocation closed.
